WORKING TO ACHIEVE STANDARDS

EMPT
has provided
independent
social work, training
and management
consultancy for various organisations since 1998.

As the government continues to conduct the process of change – health and social care workers' continuously need to understand the nature of policy changes.

Given the implementation of National Standards and the present education, social care and health reforms even experienced practitioners must continuously revisit their knowledge of the work they perform. Health and social care workers must also stay abreast of any recent developments in the work they do.

The EMPT® managing director has provided independent social work, registered and Local Authority management, traditional training/teaching, mentoring and management consultancy for various organisations since 1998. He is a qualified and registered social worker, qualified manager, NVQ Internal Verifier and Assessor as well as a qualified trainer.
